REPLIES TO CRITICISMS

Reads From a Letter of Montague's and Belittles It.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) BUCKINGHAM, VA., June 14.-Senator Thomas S. Martin spoke here yesterday to a crowd that well-nigh filled the cour room. He was introduced by Mr. E. W Hubard in a neat speech. The senato Hubard in a neat speech. The senator said, in part, that his competitor had been reading a letter he had written to a Virginian, and that he was much obliged to him for so doing, and he then proceeded to read an extract from a letter from Governor Montague to a friend, in which he used the expression "renewed the vigor of my party," as if the vigor of the Democratic party needed renewing or had been impaired. He then referred to his competitor

He then referred to his competitor calling him "an executive clerk" or a "department runner." "Would William C. Rives or R. M. T. Hunter have called his competitor such names," the senator asked.

his competitor such names," the senator asked.

So he would plead guilty to the charges of being executive clerk, etc., if this meant that he had answered letters of his Virginia constituents.

He declared he went to the departments for rich and poor, Democrats and Republicans, and negroes, and had not tilrned his back on the humblest citizen, though he had stuck to his friends and would continue to stick to them. The speaker referred to the Call resolution and denied the truth of his competitor's statement in this regard, and charged that Governor Montague did him tardy justice when, after a month's waiting, he said he got his information from a Washington bureau of information, and that a man who aspired to so high an office should be more careful about his charges.

Senator Martin said he had heard the speeches of the candidates for the guber natorial nomination, and he had no heard a word that would not be fit for ears of his competitor by one of heard a word that would not be fit for the ears of his competitor by one of the candidates.

In his claim that the settlement he had accomplished between Virginia and the Federal government, he said it was sirange that his competitor as Governor of Virginia had employed clerks to go with him to Washington to fix up the papers, and these clerks cost the State $1.000, and it was strange that he had incurred this expense if the State had only derived a benefit of $5.

Governor Montague said Senator Tillman had gotten a bill through for South Carolina which saved that State $80,000 more, and that this comparison could only be made to injure him, and that Auditor Marye had said Governor Montague's statement was absurd; that no longer than yesterday a professor of Washington and Lee University had told him he would support him (Martin). If for no other reason than this charge, that his hill only saved the State $5.

The speaker then went on to enumerate the different appropriations he had gotten for the rivers, herbors and navy yard of the State, and, among the rest, said in the ten years of his service, he had obtained in round figures $2,000,000 for the Norfolk navy yard.

Entertains a Large Audience in the City of Williamsburg.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) WILLIAMSBURG, VA., June 14.-Judge WILLIAMSBURG, VA., June H.—Judge William H. Mann, candidate for Governor, delivered an address to a large, enthusiastic audience here to-night; a large number of ladies were present. Judge Mann was introduced by Mr. R. L. Spencer, chairman of the Democratic party of Williamsburg. In his opening remarks, Judge Mann thanked the ladies for their presence, and said that this was an occasion on which he could speak to the ladies and have the last word. to the ladies and have the last word

The speaker introduced a better system of education and spoke of his efforts to a bill giving every county a high school, and spoke of the great need of a connecting link between the primary school and the college.

Judge Mann declared himself in favor of the single school book list and advocated the establishment of a good roads department for the State government. He declared that the increase in the State revenues in the last four years was accurate that she could well afford to so great that she could well afford so great that she could well afford to spend more money on her public highways and schools. Judge Mann spoke at length of his connections with the Mann bill, declaring it was a Democratic measure and said that it was the best law the party had passed in the last twenty years.

Judge Mann's address was interspersed with humorism, and anecdotes kept his audience in a fine humor at the first of the address. The people crowded around the speaker anxious to shake his hand.

Thied to Break Jail.

Officer J. M. Ferriter, of Henrico counting the county, early yesterday morning frustrated an attempt at a wholesale delivery of prisoners from the Henrico jail. Bricks were being removed from the west wall by Charles Miller. Miller was in the jail of being a deserter from the United States navy. The other two men were under sentence of sixty days each for trespassing on the Chesapeake and Ohlo Railroad. Mr. Ferriter heard the noise and caught the men in the act of trying to get away.

MALARIA APoison Breathed into the System

The air arising from low, marshy places, damp cellars, stagnant ponds and pools and from decaying vegetable matter, as well as the gases from sewers, is loaded with germs of malarial poison. mockoe Council of Royal Arcanum, the lergest council of the Order in the State and one of the largest in the South, at a largest attended meeting last night heartily approved a resolution, introduced approving the action of the Supreme Council in the increasing of rates. The motion was carried amid great applause with but one dissenting voice out of an audience of over one hundred fifty members.

The meeting was the usual bimonthly meeting of the council and the audence was composed of men in every walk of life and it lasted several hours. The interest manifested was intense from the beginning and the usual routine of busines, including the initiation of three can be used to be a supposed by the council of the council didntes was hurledly rushed through in order that the question of the hour, the proposed increasing of rates could come up for action. Prominent members of the Order spoke for and against the increase in rates for some time, waiting for Rev. F. T.
